As this school year draws to a close it is time to reflect your accomplishments and recognize the priceless legacy you carry away from these halls. The very best education has been provided for every student at Auburn High School, and I hope the knowledge you have gained here shall forever contribute to your success and happiness.

I am happy to join with others in extending to the Seniors our best wishes as you depart from your Trojan Alma Mater. We shall follow your future with interest and will be pleased to welcome you if you can arrange to return for a visit.

A Part of Guiding You

The counselors played an important role in the lives of Auburn students. In the beginning of the year, each student came into contact with one counselor while he made out his schedule. During the course of the year, he may have heard such comments as: "Your hair is too long, cut it", "Your skirt is too short, please change it", or "What college are you planning to attend?" Their requests may seem strict at times, but their main goal is to help us.

Variety in English

The keynote in English last year was the individual. For the first time, students were able to decide for themselves which English class most interested them rather than follow the pattern of preceding years. It was hoped by the English department that this change would allow students to assume responsibilities, and make decisions about their future.

Business

The counselors said, "Typing and business skills will come in handy", and they were so right! For getting a job, or just typing term papers, the skill acquired in typing came in handy. For a more specialized business career; shorthand, business machines, business law, consumer economics, and book-keeping were also offered.

Art

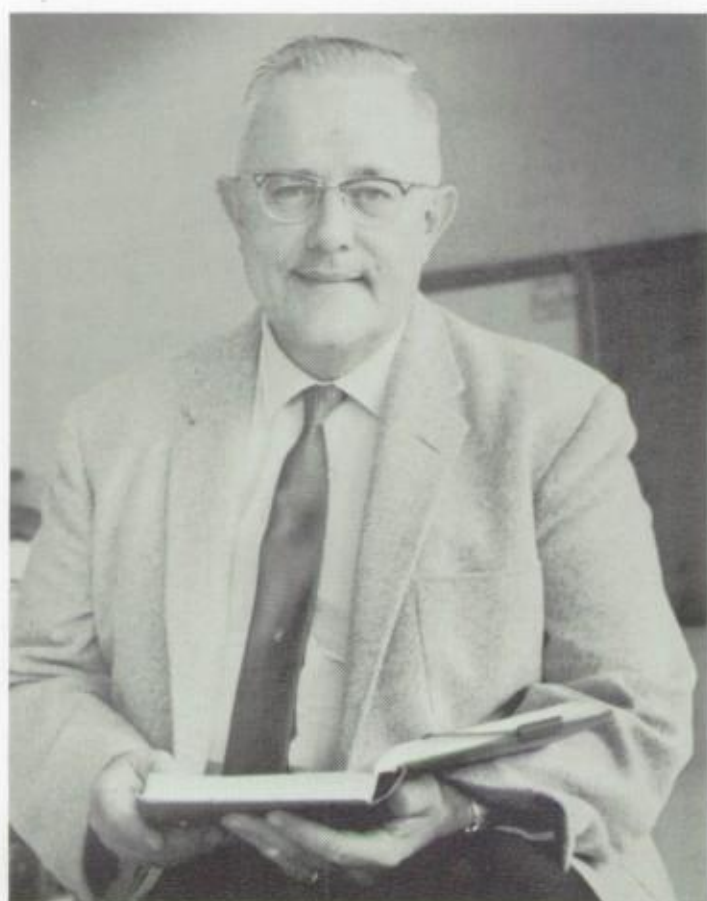

Art is not something that is only found in museums, art galleries, and books, but in our everyday life, consequently one can look anywhere and find it. One doesn't have to become, or be, an artist to see beauty, to understand and enjoy works of art. Why is it so hard to understand what "art" is, when in reality it is only a reflection of everyday life.

Responsibility for directing a program to help students find satisfactory places in the working community and to learn how to help themselves is the job of the Prevocational teachers. During their junior and senior years, students strive to find employment opportunities in the community that allow them to make use of present skills and to develop new ones.

Student Leadership

ASB Airs Student Views

As it has been in the years past, AHS has elected four students to over see the activities of the AHS student body. The officers for this year were ASB President, Steve Arms. It was his job to call Board of Control meetings, Loan Committee meetings, and to be present whenever he was needed. ASB Vice-President was Deb Barlow, who was in charge of the Senate, and the Inter-Club Council. Dianne Scarff as Secretary, had to keep a record of minutes, write correspondence and publicity. The last, but not less important office was held by Kathy Moergeli, the ASB Treasurer. It was her responsibility to keep accurate records of the ASB expenditures as well as keeping an account of funds for student organizations and the athletic expenses.

Exchange Program Proved Beneficial

Beginning its second year, the Tri-High program between Auburn, Federal Way, and Kent-Meridian continued to grow. Student exchanges between schools did much to promote communication and understanding between student bodies. The Tri-High program expanded its activities to include get togethers between student groups with similar interests. From the new 'success' gained this year, the Tri-High Council has gone ahead with plans to insure the continuation of these exchange programs.

Major Decisions Discussed

Senators Pass Bills

Senate 67-68 was a lively group. Genuine interest and varied opinions during general meetings often led to intense and heated debates. Committee meetings brought forth new hopes for the coming years. Their proposed projects included: placement of a Trojan Head in the student center, the purchase of a tennis ball machine, and fund raising activities for the construction of a Peace Corps school in South America. Long, hard hours of senators' labor proved successful as they strove to reach their goals.

Students experienced a thrill as they learned the techniques of handling a car by themselves. Not only must they learn the skills and reactions involved in driving, but also the necessary safety precautions. Driver's Education was continually promoted in the schools in an effort to curb accidents.

Traffic Court Places Burden of Traffic Safety on Drivers

"State your name, please." "May I see your license?" "The ticket says that you were traveling 40 mph in a 25 mph zone..." These were some of the many questions asked in any Traffic Court case as the jury tried the violator. Through the involvement of fellow students AHS Traffic Court attempted, and in many cases succeeded, in helping to educate fellow drivers. By their mistakes, the drivers learned the responsibility they have to themselves and to others, when behind the wheel of a car.

Ron Riddle, Sandy Sloan and Linda Martin make posters.

Returning to the curriculum and list of organizations at Auburn High School this year was the Distributive Education class, more commonly known as Merchandising. Helping to prepare students for future careers in merchandising and distribution by studying various aspects of business was the main purpose of the class.

Special class and club activities for the year included the following: booster button, pom pom and donut sales, work on displays, promotion projects, the DECA Club Album and newsletter plus attendance at state meetings.

Representing Auburn High School at the Governors Conference at Olympia was fall DECA President Sam Stockinger. Highlighting the spring semester's activities was the State Leadership Conference held in Olympia. Representing Auburn High School in competition with members of other schools from throughout the state of Washington were: Spring DECA President Nancy McFarland, Sam Stockinger and Sherry Schipper. Merchandise Manuals were entered in the State Leadership Conference contest by Betty Anderson and Sandy Sloan.

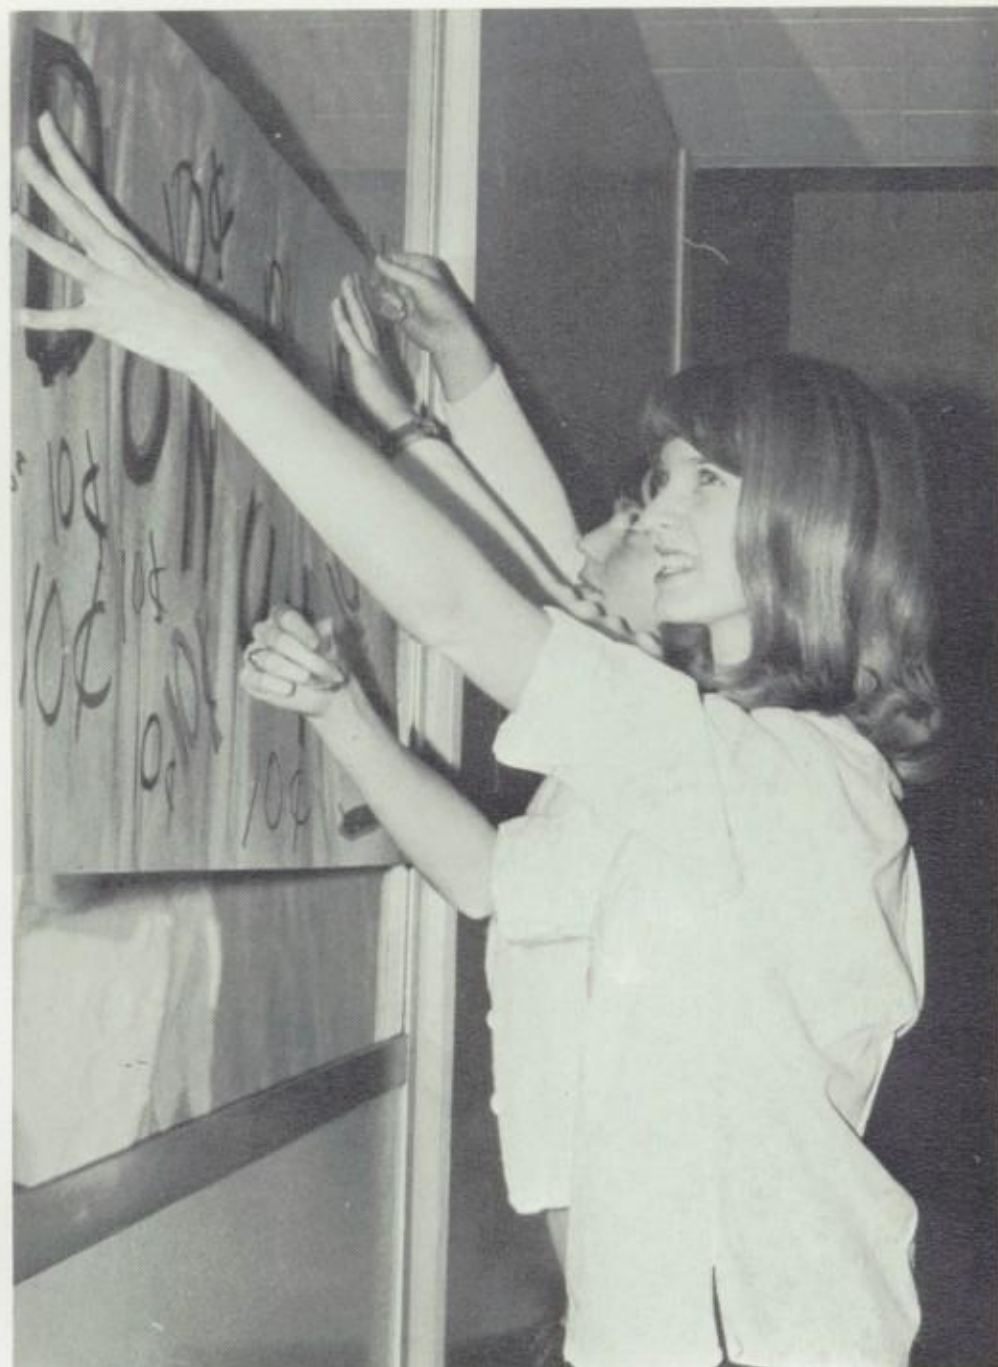

Plans for next year include expanding the Distributive Education program to two classes and clubs, and the operation of the student store.

Under President Muffie Campbell, Pep Club was organized early in the fall to promote spirit for all school events. Throughout the football season, club members decorated the goal posts with green and white crepe paper. During both the football and basketball seasons, the club made signs and decorated the lockers of each player. They also baked cookies for the teams.

Girls Participation in Athletics

Girls had an opportunity to develop their skills in athletics this year as members of G.A.A. Tournaments were held in each of three major areas, volleyball, basketball, and badminton. Teams played every week and finished each sport with a first and second place champion.

The class earning the greatest number of points from championships and attendance had its name engraved on a plaque. Playdays were held throughout the year at different Puget Sound League schools in such activities as bowling, volleyball, gymnastics, track, and basketball. Auburn fared well in these events.

Auburn High School undertook a challenging task when they accepted the responsibility of raising money for a Peace Corps school in a foreign country. Many of the clubs took an active part in the fund raising; Girls' Club sold delicious candy, Green Peppers sold paperback books, Math Club, Drama Club, Key Club and Foreign Exchange sponsored car washes. To top the festivities, there was the Peace Corps "Sadie Hawkins" Dance.

Although the $1000 goal was not met, the money that was raised was turned over to the Peace Corps to aid in their activities.

Lynn Lassiter was announced "Daisy May" at the dance because of her original outfit.

Mary Edwards and Allen Erickson were "hitched" by Mr. Valentine, alias "Marryin' Sam".

Drill Provided Entertainment

A Half-time Highlight

"Left flank, march! Left, right, left, right . . ." These words were characteristic of those constantly heard echoing down the halls, in the parking lot, in the gym, or across Troy Field as Claudia Wolters, Drill Captain, and Lynda Lee and Sue Bowen, Co-captains, made their voices heard in an effort to guide and unify their charges. It was not unusual, at any time, to be casually walking down the hall and have had to move aside as the drill procession marched by. Constant practice and a lot of patience on the part of all those concerned were means of achieving success and a rewarding squad.

Green Peppers

Serve the School and Community

Adding finishing touches to Green Peppers' Christmas tree are Miki Ribling, Virginia Smith and Mary Edwards.

Made up of girls who wished to serve their school, Green Peppers performed many valuable functions throughout the school year. They helped guide parents during the conferences, set up and served at the Football Banquet, and helped sponsor a girl for Girls' State. Green Peppers was not all work though, because once elected into the club, girls underwent initiation rituals by singing the Green Pepper song to the laughing veterans. Each initiate was required to wear a long skirt, and red lipstick and nail polish to school one day. The final touch to their elegant costumes were smelly green pepper necklaces.

Lynn Lassiter proves that Green Peppers is not all work.

The Faculty Frolic of the Year

This was the one hour a year when teachers could really let their "hair" down. Wacky costumes, bubblegum, tennis shoes and even no shoes at all was the common dress. The entrance of the faculty band to an off key rendition of "Mickey Mouse" set the mood for what was to follow. Faculty and student cheerleaders (mini skirted "A" Club Members) lead short choruses of "Hats off to Thee". At half time, the female faculty displayed their trike riding talents and Mr. Pounder provided a small bit of refreshments with his "Kick-A-boo joy" juice. The remainder of the game, spirited on by both faculty and students, was very close scoring but as was true in past years the faculty remained the champions.

Agricultural excellence was the goal members of Auburn's Future Farmers of America strove to achieve. In addition to showing their livestock, Future Farmers demonstrated their knowledge in judging cattle at the Puyallup Fair and the Auburn Livestock show. Preparation for the Future

Future Nurses

Girls joined F.N.A. this year because of an interest in Nursing. They learned what nursing requires and offers, as well as possibilities as a career in this field. To be of service to the local hospital, the girls made favors for the sick, and were on hand whenever needed. The Club added to their finances by selling candy canes at lunch during Christmas.

Christmas Carol

A Classic Made Modern

Under the careful direction of Mr. Swift and Mike Moore, Christmas Carol took on a new look this year. The effectiveness of this presentation was made possible by the lighting effects, little or no scenery for props, the actors' abilities and techniques which created the different moods.

Old Scrooge, played by Mr. Howard Webb, found the real meaning of Christmas as the spirits of Christmas Past, Christmas Present and Christmas Yet to Come haunted his dreams this Christmas Eve. They presented visions of all his wrong-doings of the year and when the final vision pictured his own grave, he begged remorsefully for one more chance. Scrooge awoke to find it all a dream, but he became permanently changed. He had discovered the true spirit of Christmas, that giving rather than receiving brings happiness.

Christmas Program

The days before Christmas vacation were filled with anxiety and anticipation of the Christmas holidays. At the climax of a busy week, the Auburn High School Orchestra and Choir presented their annual Christmas Program in the Messiah Lutheran Church.

The Choir sang of the joys of Christmas.

Students Probe New Ideas

Math Club members this year worked hard at pursuing new developments and concepts of mathematics which could eventually lead them to a mathematical profession. In preparation for the future, members tried their hands at working highly technical computers as well as holding car washes, math contests, and making Christmas decorations as some of their many projects.

Honor Society- Debate

Students Maintained 3.5 G.P.A.'s Year of Improvement

Competitive spirit and willingness to work were among the qualities necessary to have a good debate team. Constant urging and support by the coach, Mr. Crane, was the greatest incentive toward these goals. This year, as a result of attendance at three college tournaments and four league matches, the team moved from a previous 13th place to a 6th place standing in the P.S.L.

Foreign Exchange Club

Students Promote International Understanding

Once again Auburn was invaded by twenty-six students from foreign countries as they participated in A.F.S. Day. The festivities began when Auburn students met their guests whom they would entertain for several days. To welcome the A.F.S.'ers, a party was given in their honor at Kris Hansen's home. The following day, these students were called upon to speak to various classes and also perform at an assembly. To end the day, Auburn students and faculty were invited to meet the foreign students at a tea sponsored by the Foreign Exchange Club.

Artistic Talents Unveiled

Christmas Activities Highlighted the Year

Christmas was a busy time for Santa, as it was with Art Club. Day in and day out, hour after hour, workers were seen running around town painting windows, decorating trees, and cleaning paint off themselves. All the fun and hard work were worthwhile as the club netted over $120 toward their scholarship fund.

Checkmate!

Auburn Team Finished in Fine Style

The 5-man Varsity Chess Team, long undefeated, finished an outstanding season. One of the team's glories was beating Stadium High, which was previously unbeaten in 29 meets. Late in the year, AHS successfully sponsored the Washington State Chess Championship, the first in the state.

Members Display Varied Talents

An interest in dramatics rather than a talent for acting, was the major prerequisite for Drama Club membership. Field trips to see stage plays and movies highlighted the year. The club was involved in several money making activities; including a car wash for the Peace Corps Drive, and refreshments sales at GRCC Plays.

Homecoming

Week Ended with Trojan Victory

Pep week came and went with a flourish. Monday started out with many varieties of gay apparel for Granny Day, followed on Tuesday by wild hats, beanies, and helmets, and Wednesday by Grub Day. Thursday was the day of mourning as black was the color and silence the rule. Friday was the traditional class-color day, ending with the awarding of the Pep Jug to the Senior Class.

The next night at the "A" Club sponsored Varsity Ball, melodious music and gay decorations of bright streamers, Trojan armor, and fancy tables greeted guests.

Frani Reigns - Queen of Mai-Lan

Many hours of hard work gave way to the exquisite, Oriental atmosphere of Mai-Lan. Sponsored by the Auburn Girls' Club, members worked extra hard to make this dance something to remember. Couples entered a street of quaint Oriental shops and from there into the gym whose setting was made complete by a pagoda, rock garden, and waterfall. Some new things were added this year--couples' pictures could be taken for a slight fee, and Girls' Club donated a royal cape of red velvet to be worn by Queen Frani and queens to follow.

"Christmas is for Little Kids"

Theme for Senior Class Dance

Christmas trees, bright lights, and gaily wrapped presents greeted guests as they climbed through the chimney entrance into a land of Christmas. Attired in "little kid" fashions of short dresses and pigtails, or short pants and white shirts, everyone danced to the music of the Garden Wall. Mr. and Mrs. Claus appeared on the scene at intermission wishing everyone a Merry Christmas. By special request, the Clauses danced to a merry polka and then retired to their seats to listen to the wishes of the little children.

Teahouse of the August Moon

A Satire on American Ways

The ever popular show, Teahouse of the August Moon, delighted A.H.S. students and friends when presented by the Auburn Drama Department in the spring.

"Teahouse", a modern play, deals with the American occupation of Okinawa. The hilarious frustrations of American officers attempting to set up local government with "Yankee" techniques and the natives lack of understanding was excellently portrayed by the cast. Auburn High School Band. Veterans' Day Parade 1967

Veterans' Day

Because the War Veterans are an important part of the history and welfare of our country, AHS took an active part in honoring these men. A program was presented by the orchestra, choir, and various speakers. Inspirational speeches were given by Rudolph Lamaer and Kathy Moergeli. Speaking on "I Want To Be An American" was Alex Anastasiadis, an AHS Junior and Greek citizen who is seeking American citizenship. "I Am An American" was superbly performed by the orchestra and choir.

The following day the Auburn High Drill Team and Band marched in the annual Veterans' Day parade held in downtown Auburn. Members of the Armed Forces, dignitaries, and scout groups participated in the parade as well.

Auburn Honored

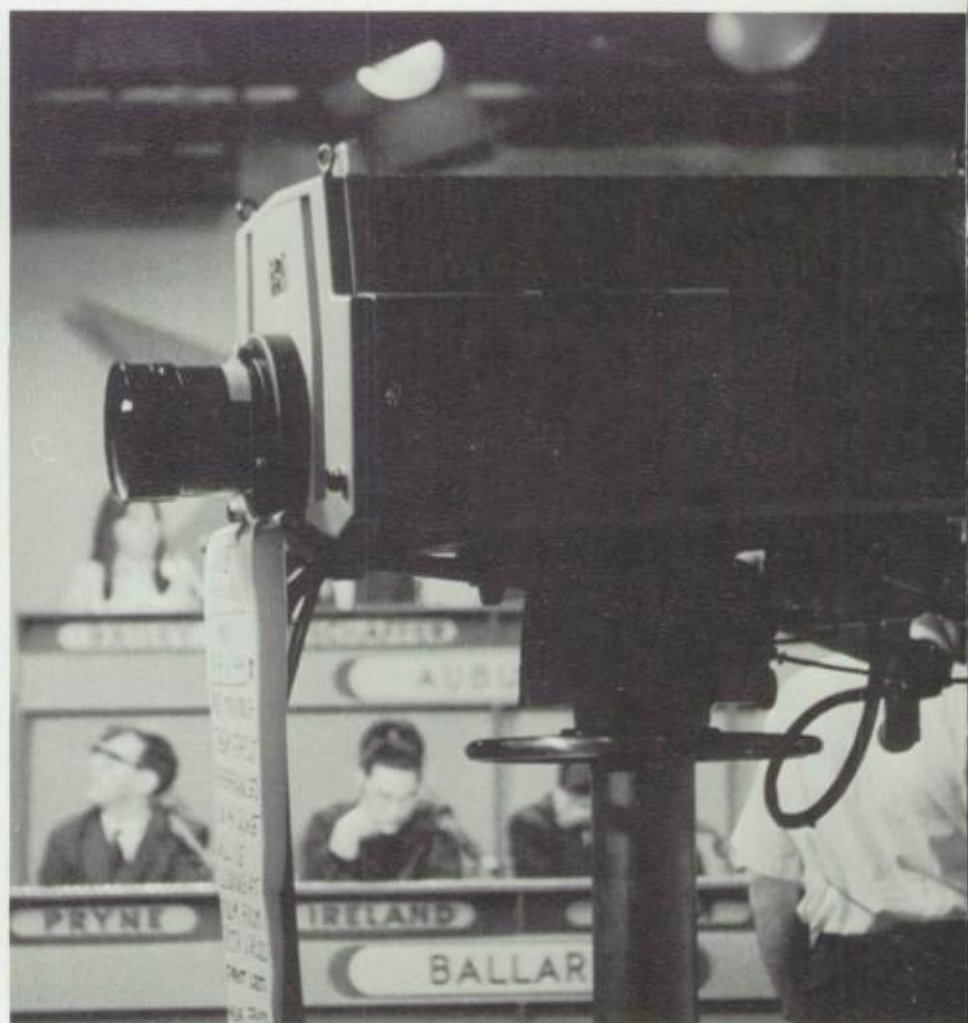

First in King T.V. Series

Auburn challenged Ballard to a battle of brains January 5 when they met at KING television studio to film the first High-Q Show, which was aired the following Sunday at 5 o'clock.

Spirited by team captain Bill Schaffer, Auburn led the game of wits at the half by a score of 140 to 80. Answering questions comparable to those asked on G.E. College Bowl, Ballard retaliated during the second half to end the competition with a score of Auburn 235 to Ballard's 265.

Trojans Reap Honors

Chuck Tucci accepted the Honorary Captain and Inspirational Awards at the annual Awards Banquet.

In the opening game of the season, Auburn and Kent battled for the traditional Taylor Trophy. Auburn played a fine defensive game but bowed to the Royals 14-6.

The first PSL Southern Division game was played on home ground against Clover Park. Despite predictions the Trojans held the Warriors to a scoreless game.

The Auburn-Puyallup game, termed the "game of the week" in the PSL, proved to be one of the best high school games in the area. Auburn dominated all the statistics, but a Viking touchdown in the final six seconds ended the game in a heartbreaking 12-6 defeat for the Trojans.

Homecoming brought the team of Troy their first win of the season and the first homecoming game victory in many years. Up to this game the Lakes Lancers were sporting a 3-1 season record. With their "plugs pulled" the Lancers returned home.

By defeating Federal Way, Auburn obtained its second Southern Division victory. Taking advantage of Federal Way's mistakes and miscues the Trojans were able to ground the Eagles.

Auburn having tied for the first place in the PSL, traveled to Cardinal territory to battle for the Southern Division Championship. Within seconds after the starting kickoff Tom Ness ran a 64 yard touchdown. It looked as if the team of Troy had the championship within their grasp. Auburn made several hard drives but Franklin Pierce was able to hold the Trojans from scoring. When the final gun sounded Auburn had lost the championship game 21-7.

This year's golf season was started off with the election of the first girl captain that Auburn has had. JoAnn Washam was the one who accomplished this feat.

They started off rather slowly with the loss of 2 out of 4 matches. After this streak of bad luck, the winning combination was found. Toward the end of the season they were tied for first place with Clover Park. After this show of victory, the team once again fell into destruction. They lost 3 out of 4 matches. With these losses the team then dropped to a tie with Lakes and Franklin Pierce and Clover Park was on their way to first place.

At the end of the season 2 players from each P.S.L. team were sent to the Medalist Tournament. The two representatives from Auburn were JoAnn Washam and Kevin Van. JoAnn shot a 2 over par 74 to break the course record for women and came in third out of 25 boys.

Swim Team Gains Experience

Many Team Members Will Return

The Swim Team at Auburn High School has completed its second year in existence. Coach Farrell was pleased with the results and looks to next year for substantial improvement, as many swimmers will be returning. This year was the first time girls were able to compete. They proved to be a successful team, as they placed third in the King-Pierce County Championship. Gary Sanders, team captain, competed sixteen times throughout the season, and was defeated only twice. He represented Auburn, in the diving division, in state competition.

Increased Student Involvement Resulted in High Honors

Gymnastics, the sport which requires self-discipline and agility, was again offered at Auburn High School this year. Under the supervision of Mrs. Trimble and Mr. Tyler, both girls and boys were able to continue developing their talents. In addition to the hour of class, gymnasts could always be found after school striving to perfect their routines. For the girls, gymnastics went one step farther as they were able to compete in league competition. Long, hard hours of practice proved beneficial for the five girls who passed rigorous tests and qualified to compete in State competition.

Also included in a gymnast's activities were trips to neighboring schools who were considering gymnastics as a part of their curriculum, and presenting an assembly for the Auburn Student Body in the Spring. These exhibitions demonstrated the hard work and talent necessary to participate in gymnastics.

Hoopsters Take 3rd in P.S.L.

7-3 Season Keeps Trojans from Playoffs

The hoopsters of Auburn came off with a season of 11 wins and 8 losses. Off to an excellent start, the Trojans downed a tough team from Burlington-Edison in the last minute of play, reversing the situation from last year. Competing in the first Auburn College-Prep Classic at Green River Community College, Auburn slaughtered Ellensburg in the first night's game. A loss to Port Angeles, in a close contest, gave the Trojans a second place in the Tourney.

Beginning P.S.L. play, the Trojans upset the touted Puyallup Vikings with an excellent performance being turned in by Pete Schilz, Bruce Willis, and Scott Sheehan. Following a win over Lakes, the Trojans were in for a period of ups and downs. Auburn lost to Federal Way in a close contest, then massacred Clover Park in a wide open game, followed by heart breaking losses to Franklin Pierce and Puyallup. Returning to the winning trail, Auburn drained Lakes with a perfect full court zone press. The table was reversed in the next game as Auburn obliterated Federal Way in their return match. An outstanding team effort, excellent defense, and red hot shooting, built a 20 point lead by the game's end.

Following their victory against Federal Way, the Trojans caught Franklin Pierce napping. A good first half offense and a tough second half defense combined to shoot down the high flying Cardinals. Traveling to Kent, the Auburn Trojans suffered defeat at the hands of the Royals. Coming up from behind in the final quarter the Trojans pulled within one point of Kent as the score was 41 to 42 in favor of Kent. The last game of the season ended on a victorious note as the Trojans trampled the Clover Park Warriors.

Grapplers Take Second Place in State Tournament

Single Loss Cost PSL Championship

Improving on last year's excellent record, the Varsity wrestling team under Coach Cerino's brilliant direction, turned in a near perfect season record, winning 14 and losing 1 match. The only loss was a heart breaker to the Puyallup Vikings who squeezed by the Trojans to take the P.S.L. League Championship.

Starting off the season with a 49-6 romp over the Renton Indians, the Men of Troy were untouchable in most matches. In sub-district competition top performances were turned in by Dan Sloan and Rick Roach who took championships in their respective weights. Entering district competition, Auburn was once again forced to take second place behind Puyallup. Second place performances were turned in by Dan Sloan, and Jay Bowen while Rick Roach and Rob Bennatts placed third. Bill Davis placed fifth and Jim Dick sixth. Following district, these Trojans headed to Bellingham for the state tournament.

At the state tournament the Trojans roared by other teams, including Puyallup, to place second behind Moses Lake. Rob Bennatts turned in a perfect performance by taking first place in the 157 lb. weight classification. His accomplishments included three pins and no points scored against him throughout the entire tournament. Rick Roach and Dan Sloan, juniors, who will be returning next year, also turned in top performances in their weights with both taking second place. Other team members turning in excellent performances at state included Jay Bowen, fifth place, Bill Davis, Dan Trudeau, and Jim Dick, who as a sophomore will be returning next year.

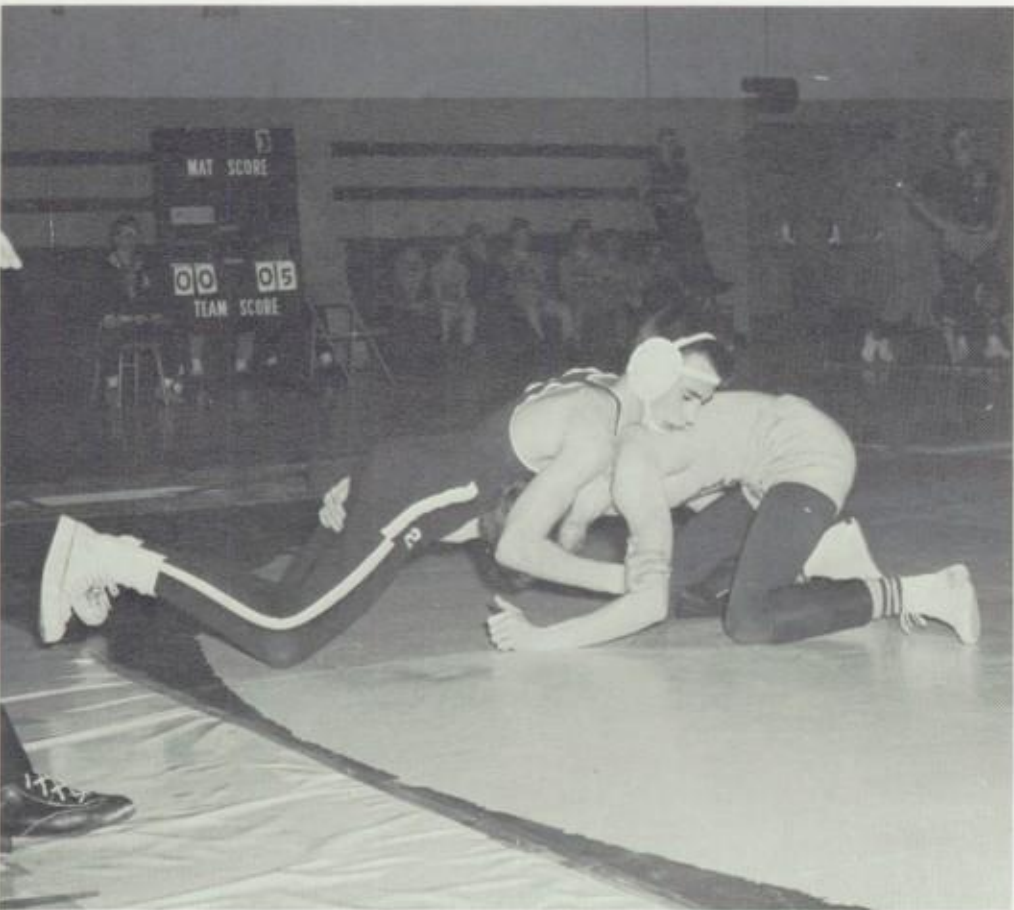

The triumphant Trojans and Coach Cerino returned to Auburn with their trophy and the promise that next year they would be aiming for the "top of the mountain."

Bruce Willis provided the foundation strength for the boys. Wendy Hawley truned in a near perfect record losing only to the girls' single player from Clover Park, (who is also the national champion from Rhodesia). Batsmen Start Season with High Hope

Sophomore Jim Zirkle Pitches Two No No Ball Games

Preseason wins over Highline, Sumner, Renton, Kent (2) and Enumclaw showed promise of a winning season for the varsity sluggers. Excellent pitching was a big factor in the preseason with outstanding sophomore Jim Zirkle throwing no hit-no run games over Renton and Enumclaw and junior Steve Madsen duplicating the same feat against Kent. Juniors, Pat Martin and John Maryanski added even more power to the mound staff. Sporting one of the tightest infields in the P.S.L., the Auburn defense was especially tough on the opposition. At the plate, seniors Scott Sheehan and Bruce Schweikl were the top batsmen with averages of 350 and 333 respectively, through the first nine games.

While hopes of a perfect Puget Sound League record were slightly dimmed with a close 1-0 loss against Puyallup in the opening league game, the sluggers of Troy were still confident of an excellent season as Coach Schweikl continued to draw top performances from his hurlers, infield, and batsmen.

We're the Class That's on the Go

Yesterday--confusion
Today--spirit
Tomorrow...

As the year proceeded, confused, blank expressions and nervous giggles, which had revealed the new sophomores to upper classmen, slowly diminished.

The class was united by the leadership of Steve, Corinne, and Tom, whose dedication inspired action. Paint or be painted seemed to be their motto as the class of "70" spent many hours painting signs for Pep Week competition. With these activities, the sophomores completed the first leg of their journey toward 1970.

69 Will Never Fall

The Best of All

Combining energy and devotion, the Junior class engaged in an active year. After school, hours were spent as the class of "69" worked diligently to paint signs for pep week.

During the year they sponsored two Pep dances, one for football season and another for basketball. Using the experience gained from these dances, they presented the Senior Prom, which completed their years activities.

AUBURN SENIOR

Auburn's combined faculty waits in eagerness to meet and conquer the ever famous KJR All-Americans.

KJR All-Americans Come to the Land of Troy

What started out as a usual evening in Trojantown was turned into an evening of hilarity by the arrival of those cagers of laughter, the KJR Good Guys. These funny men kept a full house captive with an exhibition of antics usually restricted to the imagination as they defeated a strong team of faculty members from AHS and the area's two junior highs.

The game, which was played for the benefit of Troy's A-Club, was spotted with several hilarious incidents involving members of both teams and even Auburn cheerleader, Sue Curtis. The event proved to be a huge success for A-Club as well as for those who attended.

Just keep laughing that one cost you two points.

Trojans Have Second Straight Winning Year

Defense Key to Victory

Led by experienced seniors the Trojan baseballers battled their way to their second straight SPSL Championship.

With seven returning lettermen and strong new men, Coach Schweikl and Assistant Coach Hannah worked to build one of the best teams in the league. Coach Hannah added the spark of pro ball and college ball to the men of Troy.

Pat Martin, Jim Zirkle, and Steve Madsen were the outstanding pitchers of the season. Experienced second baseman John Maryanski was the backbone of the infield.

Captain Dennis Edwards led the team in hitting followed by Pat Martin and Pete Madsen. Steve Madsen was the force behind the bat, with a season record of 3 homeruns and 15 RBIs.

Pat Martin was honored as an outstanding player by being chosen for the District All-Star game in Tacoma.

Coach Hannah shows Mike Martin how to improve his swing.

The End of the Beginning

Class Night-"69"

The time had come. The announcement of the new "69-70" officers had begun. Starting with the club officers, and ending with the announcement of next year's A.S.B. President, Steven D. Caulfield, Class Night followed all previous traditions.

Highlighting the evening were "Flashback-69", presented by Robin Weese, and musical entertainment by Tim Noah.

The climax of the eventful evening was the largest dance AHS has ever known, with over 550 students dancing to the music of the "King Biscuit Entertainers."

Linda Shimojima, Ann Lea, and Mary Whitlock lead the "illustrious" seniors in their class yell, for the last time before graduation.

Tim Noah, former AHS student, sings the newest song by the Beatles-"Get Back."

AWARDS ASSEMBLY

Outstanding Service Acknowledged

Mr. Ted Lea opened the Awards Assembly by introducing the retiring Superintendent of Auburn Schools, Mr. Hayes Holman. Mr. Holman began introducing the students who had displayed outstanding scholastic ability.

Oscars were then presented to faculty members and students for their service to the school. Those honored were: Mr. Hayes Holman, Mr. Dick Ficter, Mr. Lionel Haywood, Steve Lia Braten, Steve Kendall, Robin Nichols, and Ellen Bratovich. Other students were honored for expressing outstanding abilities in athletics, and activities in the school and community.

Near the end of the assembly, one last tradition was noted. Robin Nichols called Paul Arms, next year's Senior class president from the audience, and turned over to him the seating privileges, for next year's seniors on the Senior Class Bench.

The Awards Assembly brought attention to the students and the traditions that make every year at AHS "a very good year."

Graduation

With eager anticipation and a slight feeling of sadness, the 1969 graduating class walked up the long aisles at Rainier Hall as commencement exercises began. Featured speakers for the evening were: Ann Lea, Faculty Speaker; Fred Curtiss, Student Speaker; Steve Kendall, A.S.B. President; and Robin Nichols, Senior Class President.

Entertainment included exciting arrangements of "Exodus" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by the choir and "A Festival Prelude" by the band.

After each graduate filed on stage to receive his or her diploma, the members of the "Illustrations" Senior Class set out on their own; as individuals to find a new horizon.

1969 Prom

A Midsummer Nights Dream

The Juniors' tribute to the Seniors was a dance of elegance and sophistication. Couples danced under the spell of the night's atmosphere to the Pacific Northwest Territory Band.

The beautiful decor of the Crystal Ballroom helped to enhance the mood and to develop the theme of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

This year the Senior Class chose as King; Steve Loffer and as Queen; Karlene Keller. The honors of Prince and Princesses were bestowed upon Brent Bernston, Jan Davis, Steve Madsen, and Carol Buzard.
